EDITORIAL COMMENT.

BRYAN THE RUTHLESS.

As the proponent of ruthless politics, William Jennings Bryan is now in a class by himself, says the Reno Gazette. He is far from being the same man who carried the Chicago convention by storm twelve years ago. The passing years have set their mark upon him, and that mark has not been one of worth. Twelve years ago, when he carried all before him in that uncertain, wavering mass of Democrats, he was full of untarnished ideals and throbbing with high illusions. "Cherish your illusions as long as you may," said the French philosopher, "for you will drop them by the wayside all too soon." Bryan has dropped his. The speeding days have brought him to that pass where he clamors for success, and cares not at all what the means may be. One by one he has sacrificed the things which he so loudly proclaimed to be dear to him, and as a swimmer in his last agony clutches at straws so does this Nebraskan grasp at each passing Shibboleth which he thinks may mean a few more votes. And all the time he is indulging in that brand of politics which overrides everybody not favorable to him.

At Chicago there was talk of a steam roller. What are you to call this engine that is manned by the Bryan crew at Denver? Because Colonel Guffey, of Pennsylvania, dared to speak his mind and paint the Peerless One in truthful colors, the delegates friendly to Guffey and hostile to Bryan are unseated, despite the fact that there never has been any doubt but that they were lawfully selected. All that Bryan saw was that they were his foes, and not daring to have them on the floor of the convention to express plain opinions concerning him, he has put the machinery of his political plant in motion and has barred them from the hall. Oklahoma was a Bryan center, and so four additional votes were admitted from that State. They are Bryan votes.

These are but examples of the shameless methods being used by the Man from Nebraska. They are a counterpart of the attempts to debauch the Minnesota primaries when the Johnson forces opposed the Bryan will. They are the very antithesis of the fine-sounding phrases which fall so readily from the lips of this Catcher at Straws.

Satisfaction, however, is found in the knowledge that when the critical time arrives, which will be next November, the people will not forget.

WALTER W. COLE ENTERS THE RACE

ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR POSITION OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Walter D. Cole, of the firm of Berry & Cole, attorneys and counselors at law, has, as will be seen by a card elsewhere in this issue, announced his candidacy for the position of district attorney, subject to the action of the Nye County Democratic Convention.

Mr. Cole has a high standing in his profession. He is a graduate of Ann Arbor, reputed to be the greatest law school in America. As a pleader and counselor he ranks at the top, and if selected and elected will reflect credit upon the position. Prior to Judge O'Brien's appointment to the bench he was associated with that jurist as a partner in the practice of law. In almost all of the important criminal cases in this county in the past two years the services of Mr. Cole have been retained, and his efforts have almost invariably been crowned with success. He has also been engaged in numerous cases of much import in Esmeralda County.

JURY WAS UNABLE TO REACH VERDICT

PHOTOGRAPHER SMITH'S CASE WILL BE TRIED AGAIN MONDAY.

The case of E. W. Smith, charged with malicious mischief, was tried in Judge Brissell's court yesterday afternoon before a jury. Smith was charged with tearing open the wire screen surrounding the pound wagon and rescuing his dog, which had been captured by the dog-catcher and therein confined. Numerous witnesses were examined by both sides, and the jury, after deliberating, failed to agree upon a verdict and the case will be tried again on Monday morning. Assistant District Attorney Alling represented the State, while Mr. Smith conducted his own case.

BUTLER THEATRE AND ITS ETHICS

Sometimes a whole lot of folks would expect results even though things did not shape themselves in a way that would justify dividends. Anyhow, the lights crossed the river Styx during the second show, which precluded the management from showing the pictures. Mr. Haas, however, announced to the audience that "the show would continue in so far as he could afford the patrons entertainment, and advised the audience that tickets or money would be refunded at the door." After introducing "Babe Hackley," the colored ingenue, who was repeatedly endorsed. The show in itself was handicapped through lack of lights. Most people would have given up. We wish to commend Sam Haas at this time for his courtesy in volunteering seats for a future date or a return of the price of admission. The show was of the better sort; the house was packed. Miss Emmett rendered "Too Late" delightfully.

H. J. Fife, the pianist, played such things as would enliven humans during the absence of lights. But the show was completed, the audience satisfied and a cordial invitation was extended to those who would care to accept and receive return and complimentary tickets an engagement wherein Mr. Haas could deliver just

MISS TRENT VICTIM OF CUPID'S DART

YOUNG LADY KNOWN TO TONOPAH PEOPLE MARRIES RICH ENGLISHMAN.

Miss Florence Margaret Trent, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. La-martine C. Trent, of Auburn, Cal., was married to Spencer Tupper St. George Carey Tuesday. The wedding took place at the Trent home in Auburn and was a quiet one, with only relatives present. The bride and groom will spend a week at Mr. Carey's country place, La Vallin, near Auburn, and the following fortnight in San Francisco, where they will be entertained by a number of friends. Early in August they will leave over the Canadian Pacific for a visit with relatives of Mr. Carey in Canada, and a trip on the Great Lakes, and still later they will go to England and spend the next year abroad. Mr. Carey is an Englishman of wealth and position and the owner of valuable lands in California.

Mr. Carey's people are the owners of the Isle of Guernsey, where the family has made its home for generations. He and his bride will visit Guernsey on their wedding trip.

Miss Trent was a visitor to Tonopah last winter, she being the guest of the Tarpey family. Her brilliancy of manner and charming disposition captivated the people of the city.

BRANDS HER SON WITH HOT IRON

NEW YORK, July 11.—Asserting that her six-year-old son, Charles Goodsell, was the Messiah, his mother, Mrs. Grace Goodsell, branded him for life on the forehead and throat with a red-hot iron.

The child was rescued early today from the religion-crazed woman and both were taken to the Bellevue hospital, where the mother told the police and hospital authorities that she had branded the boy whom she believed to be the long-looked-for Messiah, so that he would be marked and distinct from others for life. The police charged that the woman also tried to kill her mother, with whom she lived, and herself.

The little boy, though terribly burned, will recover.

The two women were placed in the psychopathic ward for observation.

POLICE WAGE WAR ON STREET ORATORS

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—The attitude of Socialists of this city, who are lately insisting upon the right to address street meetings in spite of numerous arrests by the police, promises to end in a somewhat bitter campaign. Several sand lot orators have served chain-gang sentences, and at present four women and a man are confined in the county jail awaiting trials set for October.

Walter V. Holloway, a national committeeman of the Socialist party, whose wife is one of the prisoners, stated today that his associates were planning for a large demonstration on Saturday night, when the police will be compelled to make twenty-five arrests. Holloway stated that sympathizers from other cities were arriving here and that financial aid was being sent from many parts of the country.
